

Inclusion is the first magazine dedicated to the range of issues that arise when social, digital and financial Inclusion are considered along with development needs, impacts and priorities. It aims to make complex analysis of economic, ICT for development and social issues accessible to a wide audience of senior decision makers and policymakers to facilitate debate between the diverse constituencies active in these fields. The effort is always to bring in direct inputs from the field in the form of case studies, grassroots implementation and policy influences. Inclusion is of direct and vital relevance to the enterprises, policy analysts, consultants, and argues in favour of enhanced ICT adoption across sectors for inclusive growth and economic development of India.
